Data from McNeely et al., Conserving the World's Biological Diversity, IUCN, 1990 (habitat loss), and WRI, World Resources 1990-91, 1990 (population density). Countries with large areas of desert were excluded as population density is misleading in these cases. The correlation between loss of original habitat and log population density was  $r=0.74$  [ $p<=.0001$ ].
